Lack Of Skilled Labor On State Relief Rolls Hits Building Plans

By FREDERICK N. POLANGIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, April 6.—Unable to meet federal requirements attached to an "offer" for that purpose, administration leaders, it was learned today, have been forced to seek new means of financing Gov. George H. Earle's long-contemplated $60,000,000 institutional building program.

Members of the general state authority, recently created to carry out the program, have found it virtually impossible to use any of the funds promised by President Roosevelt.

Rather than scrap the program, the authority, although it has agreed on a surtailment, is study-

Find Body Of Man Believed Train Victim

Young Man Thought To Have Lost Life When He Fell From Moving Train

BODY IS FOUND BY R. R. EMPLOYE

Death Believed To Have Resulted From Fracture Of Skull In Fall

Coroner Orville Potter is attempting to establish identification of the body of a young man, about 25 years of age, found dead along the westbound tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, about 1200 feet west of Robinson's Crossing in Mahoning township, at 7 o'clock this morning.

The man had evidently met death when he fell or was hurled from a freight train. Death was due to a fractured skull, believed to have been sustained when his head struck the ground. He had fallen clear of the wheels and the body was not mangled, Coroner Potter stated.

Coroner Potter and State Troopers Knudsen and Shira went to the scene and had the body removed to the Boyd Funeral Home. Finger prints of the dead man were taken by Sergeant Knudsen and will be forwarded to the Federal Bureau of Identification at Washington, D. C., in an effort to establish his identity.

No Clues To Identity

There was nothing about the body which would give any clues to his identity. He is believed to have been a transient who traveled about the country, beating his way on freight trains. He had on two pairs of trousers and carried a razor and comb in his pockets.

Coroner Potter estimated the young man's age as between 22 and 25 years. He was 5 feet 6½ inches tall and weighed about 140 pounds.

He had dark brown hair and sideburns, was fair complexioned and smooth shaven. He wore about a No. 7 shoe. He had heavy, dark, extended eyebrows, and the only scar found was one on the forefinger of his right hand which extended from the tip of the finger to the first joint.

He wore two shirts, one an O. D. army shirt and the other blue chambray, with a clean light dress shirt in one of his pockets. He wore a brown sweater and dark blue Melton jacket with zipper front, heavy underwear, two pairs of trousers, one gray and the other blue, of cotton material. No cap or hat was

Alexander Meyer Gives Details Of Heinous Murder Of Helen Moyer

SEEKS MITIGATION OF HIS SENTENCE

Defense Attorney Blames State For Releasing Him From Huntingdon

(International News Service)

WEST CHESTER, Pa., April 6.—Gambling desperately for his own life, Alexander Meyer today fearlessly stepped on the witness stand and graphically told with calm precision every horrible detail of the heinous murder of pretty Helen Moyer.

As his only excuse for the cold-blooded crime, the former reformatory inmate, now 19, cooly stated he "wasn't interested in the work I was doing and thought of girls always came into my mind at such times."

Although the commonwealth is demanding the death penalty, the defense is not contesting the first degree murder charge or claiming insanity, but insists the youth is mentally sub-normal and depraved.

Seeks Mitigaton in Sentence

Striving for mitigation of punishment, J. Paul MacElree, chief of defense counsel, decided to place Meyer on the stand and thereby have him subjected to cross-examination "in hope that his cold, impersonal recital of the facts, as he told them to me in jail, will help his case."

The defense seeks to save the sex-driven slayer from execution by con-

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 6.—Badly smashed against the side of a mountain, the missing Douglas airliner with eight persons aboard was reported found today about five miles south of Greer, Ariz.

A report of the discovery was flashed to transcontinental and western airlines here by a company plane which has been aiding in the search for the missing ship.

Seen from high in the air, it was impossible to tell whether any of the eight had survived, but the radio report stated the plane appeared to be a total wreck.

Wreckage Visible

The wreckage was plainly visible, according to the report, on the side of Mt. Baldy about five miles from Greer, Ariz.

Because of the hilly surroundings, it was impossible for the scouting ship to land and examine the wreckage, but a radio report of the find was sent to nearby airports and ground crews were immediately dispatched to the vicinity.

Fire Loss Being Adjusted Today

Insurance Officials Are Here Adjusting Loss On St. Cloud Building

Loss on the St. Cloud building, owned by the Graham heirs and Walter S. R. Harlan, is being made today by the insurance adjusters, it is stated, and as soon as this has been completed, plans for rebuilding will be made.

Work of razing the parts of the building left standing has been held in abeyance awaiting a settlement by the insurance companies, but will be started as soon as possible once the adjustment is made.

Adjustment of the loss to the G. C. Murphy company, principal occupant of the building, has already been made, it is stated. Their loss was much greater than first estimated, as they had made considerable repairs to the building when they occupied it, which loss would be added to the loss of their stock.

Butler Motorist Is Being Held For Hit-Run Killing

(International News Service)

BUTLER, Pa., April 6—Traced through a broken radiator ornament, L. C. Youngert, of Butler, today was arrested by state highway police in the hit-and-run death of John Vallo, killed last Friday.

Arraigned before Alderman John D. Clark here, Youngert was charged with involuntary manslaughter and leaving the scene of an accident and held on $2,000 bond.

State Highway Patrolman B. J. McCole who made the arrest reported Youngert had signed a complete statement.

The broken radiator ornament, from a 1934 Ford, was found near Vallo's body, on the Butler pike, according to police. McCole reported the broken piece matched the radiator of the car owned by Youngert.

New Wilmington Fire Chief Says No Call Received

Records Of New Wilmington Telephone Company Show No Call From Pulaski

Fire Chief James Pitzer, of New Wilmington, stated today that no call for assistance at the Pulaski fire was received by his department Sunday morning, and this assertion was corroborated by A. W. Thompson, head of the New Wilmington Telephone Company, who made a check of all phone calls received Sunday morning, and found none from Pulaski.

The Pulaski people, who were alarmed when fire threatened to destroy the town, said that they had called New Wilmington for help, and were informed that the department was out.

Mr. Pitzer and Mr. Thompson believe that the call was transferred to the New Castle department by the New Castle phone operator who answered the call and the statement that the department was out was made after the New Castle Department had left for the scene of the fire.

Miss Irene Aggas, who was the operator on duty, states that no call was received at the New Wilmington telephone exchange for the New Wilmington department.

Fire Chief Pitzer expressed his regret today that the misunderstanding had occurred. He stated that the New Wilmington department has never refused to assist in case of a fire in surrounding territory, and would have been very glad to have gone to Pulaski had they received word that they were needed.

Chrysler Strike Settlement Near Detroit Believes

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LANSING, Mich., April 6.—A strong feeling that the Chrysler automobile strike would be settled today or tonight was evident on all sides here today. There was no official announcement upon which to predicate this belief but it persisted nevertheless.

Governor Frank Murphy was frankly optimistic. But he was not specific as to the exact time the anticipated agreement would be reached. It might come "at any time" he said. This assertion left plenty of latitude.

The fact that Walter P. Chrysler, chairman of the board of the Chrysler Corporation, conferred last night with the managers of his eight plants which have been closed since March 8 was taken in some quarter as indicating a settlement is imminent and that the company is making plans to resume operations.

Minimum Wage Law Is Suggested

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Bulwarked by a supreme court decision, President Roosevelt today suggested informally to Congress that it might enact a model minimum wage law for the states to copy.

Identic letters to Vice President Garner and Speaker Bankhead incorporated an opinion by Attorney General Cummings that the court had reversed itself on state legislature of this nature in last week's decision upholding the Washington state law regulating hours and wages for women and minors.

Hunt For Irwin Is Nation-Wide

Police In Extensive Search For Man Sought In Triple Murder

DETECTIVES WATCH NEW YORK PLACES

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 6.—Search for Robert Irwin, No. 1 suspect in the murder of Veronica Gedeon, beautiful model, her mother and their boarder, Frank Byrnes, became a nation-wide manhunt today as police checked dozens of reports that a man resembling the psychopathic sculptor had been seen in other cities.

While police believed the husky ex-divinity student would be found within an area of less than three miles from the apartment here where the three victims were slain on Easter Sunday, the possibility remained that the former asylum inmate might have covered a considerable distance from the city by hitch-hiking or riding the rails.

Search Expands

The search here expanded into one of the greatest manhunts in New York's history as police combed cheap flophouses, subways and the streets of Forgotten Men.

Detectives also were posted in two large bowery missions where "coffee and" is handed out. It was be-

Amendment Idea Grows

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 6.—A suggested constitutional amendment, providing that the supreme court must have a two-thirds majority to declare any law unconstitutional, gained support on Capitol Hill today. Meanwhile, Charles C. Burlingham, of New York City, condemned President Rosevelt's judicial plan at the senate hearings.

The proposed amendment was sponsored originally by Senator O'Mahoney (D) of Wyoming. It gained prominence when Senator Wheeler (D) of Montana, leading foe of the presidential plan, joined with O'Mahoney in sponsoring it and Senator Pittman (D) of Nevada, advocate of the Roosevelt program, endorsed it. Pittman predicted its adoption by the senate.

OTHER PROBLEMS FACE LEGISLATURE

By A. NORMAN GAGE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, April 6—Safety past a potential stumbling block—the confirmation of a new public utilities commission—the Democratic legislature today settled down to an otherwise uncertain 14th week of its session. Somewhere in the future lurked the next major problem, a revised system of unemployment relief and public assistance, but its arrival remains indefinite.

While the house of representatives gave final approval to the teachers' tenure bill over which its membership waged a critical battle last week, the senate confirmed Gov. George H. Earle's five-man utility commission with a surprising approach of unanimity. The vote was 48 to 1 and installed the following commissioners:

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., April 6.—An automobile which crashed through a guard rail of the Summit cut bridge, four miles north of here, and plummeted 75 feet to the tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad today had caused the deaths of two persons.

Tentative identification of the two victims, a man and a woman, was established as William Frethy, 55, of New Brighton, and Mrs. Mabel Freed, 45, also of New Brighton.

Bodies of the couple were carried more than a half mile through steep wooded hills before an ambulance was reached. Railroad officials said the Summit cut was the deepest between Pittsburgh and Chicago on the Pennsylvania system.

London Censors View Diana's "Strip-Tease" Act

(International News Service)

LONDON, April 6.—London's morality council at last was face to face with the problem today—shall 19-year-old Diana Raye "strip" for the pleasure of coronation guests?

To help decide the issue, Diana demonstrated her vision of the "strip tease" act before a crowded Victoria palace, under the gimlet-eyed stare of frowning censors.

Close to the stage was H. M. Tyrer, secretary of the council, which must rule on the exhibition.

The setting was such as to soften even the most unbending censors. Diana appeared to an accompaniment of soft music and subdued lights behind a gossamer-like curtain.

For a few moments she minced back and forth across the stage.

Then slowly . . . tantalizingly . . . she discarded two diaphanous garments, held them before her and then—a blackout.

The public morality council, represented by Tyrer, and two inspectors will make independent reports to the London county council as to whether Miss Raye should be allowed to continue to perform before the public.

URGES PERMANENT C. C. C.

President Makes Recommendation

Would Place 300,000 Limit On Enrollment Of Future C. C. C.

BELIEVES WORTHY WORK BEING DONE

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 6.—In a special message to congress President Roosevelt on Monday afternoon recommended that the Civilian Conservation Corps be made a permanent part of the federal setup with a maximum enrollment of 300,000 youths.

The president's recommendation came on the fourth birthday of the CCC, which was created April 5, 1933, by executive order.

In setting the maximum enrollment of 300,000 Mr. Roosevelt was resisting demands made by various sections of the country that the forest army be maintained at a personnel of 350,000 to 400,000.

He advised congress that his best information indicated that 300,000 boys represented the maximum enrollment that might be expected from relief families and he added that to go beyond this number "would seriously affect the financial situation of the treasury."

"Ample Useful Work."

"I am convinced that there is ample useful work in the protection, restoration and development of our national resources," the president declared, "upon which the services of the corps may be employed advantageously for an extended future period. It should be noted that this program will not in any respect reduce normal employment opportunities for our adult workers; in fact, the purchaes of simple materials of food and clothing and of other supplies required for the operations of the corps tends to increase employment in industry.

"I recommend, therefore, that provision be made for a permanent corps of 300,000 youths (and war veterans) together with 10,000 Indians and 5,000 enrollees in our territories and insular possessions. It would appear, after a careful study of available information, that, with improved business conditions these numbers represent the maximum expected enrollment."

The president recommended an appropriation of $300,000,000 for maintenance of the CCC in his budget message of last January.

Without legislation the corps would expire on June 30 this year.

But modesty isn't a nice virtue when people are so darned proud of it.

Missing Since Saturday

The luxury airliner had been missing since Saturday when it left Los Angeles with Kansas City as a scheduled refueling point on its trip to the east coast.

The plane was flying over the TWA route, but was not owned by the company. It had been sold to a foreign concern and was being "dead-headed" to New York for shipment abroad.

As soon as it was reported overdue, the TWA flung all its facilities into the search which had been conducted intensively for two days and three nights.

WINSLOW, Ariz., April 6.—Search for the huge Douglas transport plane, missing with eight persons aboard, was centered today on the bleak snow-covered hills of eastern Arizona.

Government, army and private planes renewed the grim air patrol today, heartened by "coinciding reports" of a plane in distress in this region Saturday.

The twin-motored ship has been unheard from since it took off from a Los Angeles airport bound for New York via Albuquerque, N. M., and Kansas City at 10 a. m. Saturday.

It was being "deadheaded" to New York where it was to have been dismantled and shipped to Europe for the Royal Dutch Airlines. It was built at the Douglas Aircraft Company's plant at Santa Monica, Cal.

Those aboard were Glen Moser, veteran pilot, and his father, E. R. Moser; Merle Estey, Douglas engineer and his wife; Mrs. H. C. Bruderlin, mother of a Douglas employe; Co-Pilot Joseph Wolford, and Bernard Troy, Jr., and Ronald Kent, friends of the pilots.

Since the plane was not on a regular passenger run it had not been expected to keep in communication with ground stations enroute and no real fears were felt for it until it failed to arrive in Kansas City Saturday morning.

Reports that two other persons may have been aboard the plane when it took off Saturday were discounted by Douglas officials.

HUNT FOR IRWIN IS NATION-WIDE

lieved the impoverished Irwin might return to evangelistic surroundings of his Pacific coast childhood.

Police Commissioner Lewis Valentine said he would not be surprised if the fugitive had committed suicide, but added grimly:

"We don't want him dead—we want him alive."

Many Reports

Reports poured in from other cities that a man resembling Irwin had been seen in various restaurants, railroad stations, street cars, rooming houses and saloons—almost invariably "acting peculiarly."

One report placed Irwin in a grocery store in Washington, where he has friends. The proprietor "positively identified" a newspaper picture as that of the hunted sculptor.

Similar reports here throughout the night caused brief flurries of excitement. But officially, police still were without definite knowledge of the sculptor's whereabouts.

Safe Withstands St. Cloud Blaze

In spite of the blistering heat of the St. Cloud building fire, the safe of E. E. Marshall, insurance agent who had his offices in the building withstood the test. Today the safe was cut open with electric welding torches and to the surprise of Mr. Marshall not a paper was so much as singed. In the safe were many valuable insurance documents which would have entailed a large loss had they been destroyed.

tending the commonwealth must share responsibility for the killing of the 16-year-old Coatesville high school pupil.. MacElree told the court bluntly the crime would not have occurred had Meyer been made to serve his full sentence in Huntingdon reformatory for shooting two Philadelphia girls in 1934 because they repulsed his advances.

While the jammed courtroom listened with rapt attention amid a silence in which a pin could have been heard to fall, Meyer narrated the details of the attack-slaying. Quickly and directly he responded to all questions put to him under direct and cross-examination.

In an effort to have the water in the Pymatuning Dam held back while work is going on, in the channel dredging and bridge repairing at Cherry street, Commissioners George H. Bolinger and Floyd H. Cotton, Marvin Dinsmore and Charles F. McGill went to Turnerville today.

They feel that if the gates are shut at the Pymatuning Dam during working days at Cherry street, the work there will be expedited.

NEW UTILITY COMMISSION IS APPROVED

burg, counsel for the abolished public service commission.

Thomas C. Buchanan, of Beaver, lone Democrat on the old commission and only survivor of the wreckage of that group.

Donald Livingston, Philadelphia accountant.

Guy K. Bard, of Denver, Pa., federal district and attorney and erstwhile candidate for lieutenant governor in the Hemphill-Pinchot election of 1930.

Intensive negotiations over the week-end cleared the way for solid support of the five men by the 34 senate Democrats. With that development, Republicans apparently conceded the futility of trying to block the confirmation. Three of four registered verbal protests but, when the roll call was taken, only Sen. George Woodward, of Philadelphia, voted "no." He has explained that he would deplore the Democrats' rejection of civil service protection for commission employes.

LACK OF SKILLED LABOR ON RELIEF HITS BUILDING PLAN

ing the feasibility of floating bond issues with private commercial houses, with special state funds—such as the teachers' retirement fund—or with both.

Skilled Labor Lacking On Relief Rolls

President Roosevelt had "assured" Governor Earle of a $20,000,000 grant, providing $15,000,000 were to be spent for labor from the relief rolls and $5,000,000 for non-relief employes. The nation's chief executive also made available $50,000,000 for loans at four per cent interest.

But, administration leaders are now resigned to the fact that there is no skilled labor available on the relief rolls and believe that funds can be borrowed from other sources at lower interest rates.

The administration has but one hope for federal funds and that hinges on the success of U. S. Senator Joseph F. Guffey's expected appeal to President Roosevelt that the restrictions be "liberalized."

Members of the authority privately admitted they were not optimistic about Senator Guffey's efforts in that they have already been warned by officials of PWA, through which agency the program was to have been carried out originally, that a change in the requirements was hardly possible.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY AT BAIRD RESIDENCE

Honoring the forty-second wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Baird of the Mt. Jackson-Bessemer road, their children and close relatives, numbering forty, gathered in their home Monday evening, as a medium of celebrating the occasion.

Upon returning from a pleasure ride through the country, Mr. and Mrs. Baird accompanied by their son William Baird, returned to the house to find the house filled with guests, laughter and excitement. It proved a complete surprise to the honored couple, who were later showered with an array of lovely personal gifts, as additional mementos.

The women in attendance, later unpacked well filled baskets which they had prepared for the memorable occasion, and served a bountiful and well balanced lunch. The dining table was centered with a large tiered wedding cake, made by Mrs. Sophie Clements. She, with Mrs. Ray Hilliard, Mrs. Lawrence Martin, Mrs. William Baird, Mrs. Clarence McConnell and Miss Ina Lusk, served.

MRS. HARRY MARSHALL RECEIVES EVENTS '23

The home of Mrs. Harry Marshall on Crawford avenue, was opened Monday afternoon to associates of the Current Events of '23. Current topics were given in answer to roll call, and the usual business routine was conducted.

A paper was given by Mrs. Joseph Jordan on "Wealthy Women of This Country" which was most interesting, and Mrs. J. D. Moore, Jr., contributed an article on "Insane Criminals" by Will Irwin, going into detail on several phases. Mrs. Stewart Thompson concluded with another article on "National Jelly And Jam Month—June 15 to July 15."

"A recollection Chat" featured the social period that ensued when Mrs. Elizabeth Patterson and Mrs. W. H. Shipler carried on conversation about olden times, when the club members were little girls. This feature provoked much merriment.

The hostess later served refreshments, and she was aided by her great grand-daughter, little Gretchen Mackey. Plans for their next meeting, will be announced.

Attend Sharon Dance

Dr. and Mrs. Homer Allen and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wish, of this city, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mornes, of Sharon, and also attended the dance at the Sharon Country Club, Saturday evening.

HEALTH MEETING OF B. P. W. LAST EVENING

With the program in charge of the health committee, of which Miss Charlotte Emery is chairman, the speaker at Monday evening's meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club was, appropriately, a physician.

Dr. E. F. Henderson's talk on the subject of cancer was very informative and interesting, the principal feature of the bi-monthly dinner-gathering in the Y. W. C. A.

During the business meeting which followed, presided over by Mrs. Hazel Boyd, president of the club, Miss Florence Dickey of Butler, chairman of District Two, was introduced. Miss Dickey outlined the aims and plans in club work for the coming year. She invited the local club to attend a meeting and dinner of District Two to be held May 1 at Indiana, Pa., and urged them also to go to the state convention of B. P. W. in Pittsburgh May 21 to 23.

Miss Mary Bigley, finance chairman, reported that the card party and style show held in the Elks club on March 9 helped to add many dollars to the clinic fund. The club instructed Miss Emery, health chairman, to organize a health clinic for the purpose of giving any club member who desires it, a physical examination. Miss Nancy Bechtol announced that she is taking reservations for the Public Relations Dinner on Friday, April 16, in the Epworth Methodist church, when Dean Charles S. Tippetts of the School of Business Administration of the University of Pittsburgh will speak on "Our Economic Future."

The transportation chairman, Miss Lucile Lutton, reminded the club that the national convention of the Business and Professional Women's clubs will take place at Atlantic City July 18 to 23. Miss Helen White, camp chairman, reported that the Rae Muirhead Cottage at Lakewood will be open for activities the first of May.

Mrs. Mabel Bollard announced that an important meeting of the club chorus will take place at her home Thursday evening, April 15. The social service chairman, Miss Geraldine Fry, stated that three more children have been fitted with glasses and that five other worthy cases are being examined.

As the next regular meeting of the club will be the annual business meeting on May 3 the president appointed the following nominating committee: Mrs. Sara McCune, Miss Olivia Griffiths and Mrs. Bertha Smith.

Besides the club members and their guests the following special guests were present: Miss Florence Dickey and Mrs. Blanche Snyder, of Butler, and Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Henderson, this city.

Thursday, April 15, the club will meet with Anna Ruth Frisby.

PAPERS OF INTEREST AT HERSHEY AUXILIARY

Devotionals were in charge of Mrs. George Harbision who spoke on the subject, "If I Be His Disciple, I Will Test My Life By Christ." Mrs. Harbison read from Matthew, fifth chapter, and John fourth chapter, stressing Christian virtues of love, joy, peace and patience. She drew a word picture of what life would mean to us, if we practiced these virtues in our daily activities.

The devotional period was concluded with prayer and Mrs. J. J. McIlvaine most effectively sang an Easter number, "Sheep and Lambs" by Sidney Homer, accompanied by Mrs. W. B. Caldwell.

Marcus Whitman was educated at the same school where John Brown (of Civil War days) and William Cullen Byrant received their education.

Another interesting paper on the life and work of Henry Spaulding was contributed by Mrs. N. J. McClusky. Spaulding was a missionary to the Oswego Indians.

At the conclusion of these papers, colored pictures were shown of Whitman and Spaulding expeditions.

A group of twelve working busily one morning this week could easily complete the covers, so pack a light lunch, all you young needlewomen, and surprise Mrs. Thayer by being at the hospital by 11 Thursday.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

"I ONLY WISH I could believe that the thing the senate is about to do will redound to the interest of the American people, but for the life of me I cannot bring myself to believe it will contribute to the welfare of the great mass of American people and to the happiness of the world and elevate and render more permanent the civilization of mankind."

Those historic words were uttered 20 years ago this month by one of a "little group of willful men" who opposed American entrance to the World War. Today, these words of Senator James K. Vardaman take on the form of prophecy.

The Mississippi senator led the opposition to the war declaration during a day of bitter debate on April 4, 1917. Five other senators composed this "little group of willful men" who tried in vain to keep the United States out of a war that already had embroiled most of the world.

Earlier, President Woodrow Wilson had told congress:

"We are about to accept the gage of battle with this natural foe to liberty and shall, if necessary, spend the whole force of the nation to check and nullify its pretensions and its power. We are glad, now that we see the facts with no evil of false pretense about them, to fight thus for the ultimate peace of the world and for the liberation of its peoples, the German peoples included; for the rights of all nations great and small and the privilege of men everywhere to choose their way of life and of obedience.

"The world must be made safe for democracy. Its peace must be planted upon the trusted foundations of political liberty."

Today, 20 years later, who was right—Senator Vardaman or President Wilson?

HALT HASTY MARRIAGES

When Pennsylvania in 1935, in an effort to delay hasty marriages, passed a law requiring three days' wait from the time of declaration of intention to wed until the license could be issued, it joined a steady procession of states in this line.

Adjoining states of Ohio, West Virginia and Maryland enacted similar laws. The most recently enacted, that in Maryland, requires a two-day wait. West Virginia imposes three-day delay, the same as in this state, and Ohio has a five-day delay.

The enactment of these laws will witness the passing of several Gretna Greens, notably Wellsburg, W. Va., and Elkton, Md., both small places which did a land-office business in Pennsylvania marriage licenses.

The reform measures in the two states were not enacted without overcoming the opposition of a strong lobby of local interests who thrived on the income from such trade. Now those who wish to marry in haste in Pennsylvania must travel a considerable distance to secure licenses usable at once.

VALUE OF AIR RAIDS

The claim that the next great war will be based on aerial destruction of large cities has suffered a setback because of the Spanish civil war, it is indicated in an article just written by J. B. S. Haldane, distinguished British biochemist.

A good many civilians think that bombing of cities is going to win the next war. This view may be shared even by some professional soldiers. It is not impossible that a great deal of effort and material will be expended in such bombing raids. The evidence available, however, suggests that the expenditure will prove of neglible military importance.

Professor Haldane returned from Madrid recently and published his impressions of the civil war in "The Listener," the organ of the British Broadcasting Company. Commenting on Mr. Haldane's remarks concerning the air raids on Madrid, The Chicago Tribune says:

"With everything in their favor, the bombers have failed to shake the civilian morale or cause a material interruption in the life of the community. . . . It is not unlikely that in another great war efforts will be made to attack civilian populations from the air, but it is far from certain that these efforts will succeed. The targets will not be as defenseless as is Madrid against air attack; therefore the bombers will have to approach the city at a much greater height and their marksmanship will be correspondingly worse. To the extent that the speed of bombing planes is increased their marksmanship will be correspondingly worse. In any event, there is in every city far more land that is not built upon streets, yards, etc., than of building sites, and in these open spaces bombs can do relatively little damage."

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

PRIMARY TEACHING IMPORTANT

In this column I have been pleading for serenity in the home and school, and have maintained that a hurry atmosphere connected with learning not only retards the child's learning progress, but also seriously impairs his mental health. On the efficiency side of the problem appeared an editorial in Childhood Education for February, that will interest parents as well as teachers:

The Remedial Wave.

"Periodically waves of various educational impulses transverse the nation. Today, riding its crest, is the wave of remedial teaching—remedial reading, remedial arithmetic, remedial science, remedial almost-any-subject-in-the-curriculum. Special teachers are being employed to do remedial teaching, and every available space in many public schools is being turned into a clinic.

"It seems a bit surprising that educators have not learned from the medical and dental professions the value of preventive work. Diphtheria, typhoid fever, smallpox and many other diseases are being eradicated. The younger generation in America has stronger teeth than the older one had at the same age. And yet we constantly develop in thousands of our children lack of ability, such as non-reading, when the exact opposite is what we wish for them.

"If we exercised prevention by putting our attention on readiness for reading; if we adapted our methods of teaching to meet individual needs; if we lessened the number of children in beginning classes; if, in short, we put the great emphasis on better first teaching at the proper time for teaching, it is likely that we should be able largely to eliminate the problem of remedial reading.

"TIME, today, has become a by-word on American lips. We are always rushing. Adults resent lack of time to do the things they wish to do. Institutions are full of those who cannot keep up with the pace of the times. Little children are expected to read so many pre-primers, so many primers, and so many first readers in their first year of school. 'There is no time for anything but reading. There isn't even time for that,' wail many primary teachers as they try to hurry their Johnnies and Elsies on the whiz-like trail of learning to read. Some can keep the pace, but 20 to 25 per cent cannot. They are so constituted mentally and physically that while they could learn to read at their individual rates, they can never keep the pace set

"The scars made by poor first teaching, such as wrong attitudes and incorrect interpretations, can be erased little more easily than physical scars. Much good has been accomlpished by remedial teaching, but if we spent the same amount of money and effort to popularize excellent 'first teaching', shall we not have proceeded a long way educationally?"

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THE FLOWERS EVEN RESPOND.

Flower Shows at Easter time; particularly on Easter Sunday, are common throughout the Christian world. In cold climates, gorgeous hot-house exhibits are given.

The climate of Southern California affords opportunity for wonderful outdoor Shows. San Diego County, California has a soil adapted to the growth of most anything pertaining to either the flower or vegetable families, and particularly is the soil along the Pacific Highway adapted to the growth of bulbous plants.

Near Carlsbad, one Earl Frazie, has devoted his attention to the propogation of anemones and ranunculi. These flowers are not grown by him for the purpose of selling the flowers, but for the purpose of developing the bulbs and collecting the seeds. This year, on Easter Sunday, the giant beds of these flowers were opened to the view of the world. On a tableland, overlooking the Pacific, he had planted about seven acres of these plants, and they came to full bloom on Easter day. They were planted in great squares of blue, crimson and gold. Never before in this country have such gorgeous blooms been developed in these two varieties. Some of them were like giant roses; some of them were tiny balls, but the coloring was hard to describe. All day long Easter Sunday, the visitors paraded around these beds.

Notwithstanding that Southern California has had more rain than it has had for the last forty years and more frost than the oldest inhabitant can remember, this day was a pleasant sunshiny one and the flowers had responded as though to the touch of the Father whose Son arose on Easter morn.

DEAR MISS MARKEL—We have selected all of the items for our new home except the pictures. Please give us some helpful hints as to their choice. MRS. B. L. B.

Answer—If your living room is given a modern light and gay motif, do not place in it pictures with religious or serious themes. Reserve these for the more personal rooms of the house.

If you have an interesting religious picture that you especially wish to hang, place it over the desk of the owner so that it will appear to be his and not purposed for guests.

In your bedrooms and other strictly personal rooms, omit pictures that are strictly social or formal.

For modernistic rooms, select modernistic pictures or those that are simple and dramatic.

For pictures showing simple subjects, such as peasants, omit elaborate frames, reserving these for social pictures, such as court scenes, portraits of royalty, etc.

Where walls are light, pictures should be light, and vice versa.

For tall, narrow wall spaces, select tall pictures; for wide, horizontal wall spaces, choose broad pictures. And hang the dominating picture on any wall so that its center of interest reaches the level of your eye, if you are of average height.

Against Rising Prices. Discuss Likely Curb. Financial Writer Gives View.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Columnist

THERE HAS BEEN considerable speculation as to what caused President Roosevelt to make another declaration the other day against rising prices. One merely can guess, but criticism by liberals might have been the determining factor—and a factor, too, that may be a guiding force for the administration in the future. Thus the interest now manifested in an article that appeared in The Nation recently. The article was unsigned, but it was written by Maxwell Stewart, a liberal financial writer who has been critical of the Roosevelt economic policy. It is not improbable that presidential advisers might have read it. At any rate, observers now are studying it closely.

I have permission to quote it, as it may be a guide to future action. Incidentally, it bears some resemblance to advice given to the British government by the most widely-known British economist, J. M. Keynes.

INFLATION IS HERE

That is the title of the article. And here is how Mr. Stewart reasons it:

"The general public thinks of inflation as a wild speculative orgy in which the printing presses turn out tons of money in ever-increasing denominations. This, of course, is characteristic of the final stage of an uncontrolled inflationary movement. But to an economist an inflation is merely a period in which there is a steady shrinkage in the purchasing power of money. From this point of view there can be no doubt that we are already well along in an inflationary period. As is usually the case with inflations, the rise in prices was gradual at first. From the low point in 1933 to the early fall of 1936, wholesale commodity prices rose only 25 per cent. The prices of manufactured articles, after a sharp rise in the summer of 1933, remained practically stationary until the last quarter of 1936.

"Since the end of October wholesale prices have risen an additional 9.2 per cent, making a total increase of 15 per cent in the past year. The price of finished steel products has advanced 25 per cent in the past 12 months and 39 per cent since the depth of the depression. This advance may be compared with a 44 per cent increase in 1922-1923 and a 39 per cent rise in 1919-1920, years which are now recognized as inflationary periods. It is doubly significant in view of the fact that iron and steel prices declined only about 25 per cent in the depression.

"Here is unmistakable evidence that a period of inflation has begun. Where it will end no one can say. Once prices start skyrocketing, a vicious circle is joined. The increase in the prices or raw materials necessitates a rise in the prices of finished products. This leads to higher living costs and demands for higher wages, which in turn furnish a pretext for a further boost in prices. Meanwhile, stockholders and speculators are the chief beneficiaries."

VIEW OF FINANCIAL WRITER

The article continues:

"While Secretary Wallace may have been overstating it when he declared that the government lacked power to control 'the wide swings of the business cycle,' he would have been on sound ground if he had merely said that the devices with which the inflationary boom might be checked are dangerous and politically inexpedient. If the Reserve banks divested themselves of the two billion dollars' worth of government bonds now in their vaults and raised the rediscount rate, while the government sold its stock of excess silver and curtailed emergency expenditures, the boom could be checked. But in the process we might easily find ourselves in the throes of a new de-

THE FIRST WATCH

My father gave a watch to me
Long many years ago.
It was a handsome thing to see,
Which I was proud to show,
A bright and shining mystery
I was too young to know.

"Take care of it," my father said.
"Be sure to use it well;
Wind it before you go to bed,
The time of day 'twill tell."
But when possession's charm had fled,
A tragedy befell.

No more contended to enjoy
A thing so bright and fair,
I ventured as a curious boy
To lay its secrets bare,
Not dreaming that I should destroy
That watch beyond repair.

Into its gleaming case I pried,
Took wheels and springs apart,
But all in vain that day I tried
Again that watch to start.
The joy that once was mine had died
And left me sad at heart.

And so with man. The happiest art
Is blessings to accept.
For he who tears his life apart
God's will to intercept
Will lose the blithe and joyous heart
Which faith in Him had kept.

Book List Prepared For Ministers Group By Public Library

List Of Books Of Interest To Ministerial Association Presented Monday

Recommended by the public library is a number of books with a good religious background, covering the modern viewpoint. A practical, personal book on religion to be read and digested is Winifred Kirkland's "As Far As I Can See". Its appeal is direct to the heart of the seeker who wants life more abundant.

A notable book of the year is "The Bible", designed to be read as literature, arranged by Ernest Sutherland Bates. It has been previously reviewed by the library.

The following is a portion of the list of books presented at the meeting of the Ministerial association, which was held Monday evening, by Rev. Philip C. Pearson. These books are in the public library and many persons are finding profitable reading in them. The list follows:

Bates, Ernest Sutherland, The Bible.
William Brown, Church and State in Contemporary America.
Dale Carnegie, How To Win Friends and Influence People.
James G. Gilkey, Getting Help From Religion.
Marjorie Greenbie, Arts of Leisure.
Stanley Jones, Victorious Living.
Toyohiko Kagawa, Brotherhood Economics.
Kenneth Latourette, Missions Tomorrow.
John MacMurray, The Structure of Religious Experience.
H. V. Morton, In the Steps of St. Paul.

Because J. Myron Rice, director of public safety, expressed his dislike for the revamped proposed mercantile ordinance colleagues decided to hold another informal meeting on the bill. Mercantile Assessor James Mayberry also said there were features he would like to further discuss. Under the new proposal the highest tax would be $95.00 on an annual business amounting to $100,000. Scanlon yesterday that by Thursday, $400.00 would be transferred to an appropriation for the purchase of a screen for the sewage disposal plant. The cost of the equipment will be $2,000, and the installation will cost $400.00. Some time ago Scanlon promised to hold the price until April 5, providing council indicated he would win the contract. This council indicated. Yesterday Councilman Alexander and colleagues indicated the award would be made Thursday. It is understood that the screen must be secured owing to the insistence of the state.

It was gratifying yesterday to see a force of men start work on Sumner avenue. Providing the rainmaker lays off awhile, the paving will proceed quickly, City Engineer Glenn Throop said.

City treasury attaches here today stated that big industries probably will pay their city tax this month which will result in approximately $50,000, being placed in the city coffers.

Ann Sothern says: "I like Luckies—they're smooth on my throat"

"I like Luckies because . . . well, just because I like them, that's all! They're an old standby of mine. They taste grand and they're as smooth as can be on my throat. I suppose Luckies get along so well with my throat because they're what you call a light smoke. I like them—and I'm glad to put it in black and white."

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, more than 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

Miss Sothern verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on the throat.

Moravian History Interesting To Residents In This Vicinity

Of interest to residents in Lawrence county and neighboring vicinity is the following resume of the history of "The Moravians", which was given by Mrs. Archibald H. Davis, Jr., at the April meeting of Lawrence chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Saturday.

Briefly, the history goes back to John Huss, a Bohemian religious reformer, who, profoundly moved by the writings and teachings of John Wycliff, translated his works into the Bohemian language.

These proclaimed the theory that there should be a separation of church and state, and that each individual had immediate access to God without the intervention of priest or clergy, and a right to his own interpretation of the Bible.

For these heretical ideas he was burned at the stake in 1415. Soon after his death some Bohemian nobles organized to avenge his death and show their defiance of the decrees of the church and allegiance to the Huss doctrine. So began the Moravian church, or the United Brethren church, as it is also called.

This took place 60 years before Luther began his reformation. Hence, the Moravian church is by far the oldest Protestant church. The seat of the church was at Lititz, Bohemia, 100 miles east of Prague.

In 1501 they printed their hymn book and catechism. In 1735 they sent missionaries to the Indians in Georgia. John Wesley came in contact with them here and was reconverted by them.

In 1740 they moved to Pennsylvania and built a settlement on the Lehigh river. They named the place Bethlehem, after a much beloved hymn. The church at Bethlehem is the head of all Moravian work in the western hemisphere. The Moravian church was the first Protestant church to do missionary work and at present has more church members in so-called heathen lands than in Christian lands.

In 1770 David Zeisberger came from Bethlehem as a missionary to the Indians of western Pennsylvania. Here he found ready converts. A band of Christian Indians settled near the present site of Moravia.

A village of 24 log cabins was built one-half mile southeast of Edenburg and named Friedenstadt, city of peace. The church at Friedenstadt was the first church dedicated west of the Alleghenies.

The next year Zeisberger went to the valley of the Tuscarawas in Ohio and there started the settlement of Gnadenhutten and Schonbrun. In 1773 it became necessary to desert Friedenstadt because of drunken Indians, incited by traders, and the members of the colony destroyed their entire settlement before they left it and moved to Gnadenhutten.

In 1782 these Christian Indians were thought to be responsible for the massacres perpetrated by heathen Indians, and the entire colony at Gnadenhutten was killed by white militiamen. The state of Ohio has restored the original village of Gnadenhutten and it is a most interesting place to visit.

The World At A Glance

pression. If the present rate of economic activity is to be maintained and expanded, it is essential, as J. M. Keynes recently pointed out, to keep interest rates at or near their present low levels. Emergency expenditures cannot be curtailed without grave injustice to the underprivileged groups in the country. What is needed is not some method of destroying the purchasing power of the ten million still unemployed but a device which will reduce the excess funds of the very wealthy.

"The only satisfactory curb on inflation, as Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the Federal Reserve board, has stated, would be heavier taxes on high and middle-income groups and an increase in the levy on corporation profits. An unbalanced budget is necessary in a depression in order to maintain mass purchasing power, but during a boom the budget should be balanced and the indebtedness incurred in the slump retired. Very little reduction can be made in government expenditures at this time; so if the budget is to be balanced, it must be through increased taxation.

"If taxes are to be raised, legislation should be adopted at this session of congress. Even if this is done, the taxes on this year's income will not be payable until next March. By that time the boom may be fully upon us. If action is put off until the next year, the new levies cannot come into force until 1939, which would be much too late. It may even be that an increase in taxes on luxury goods will be necessary in order to make certain that they become operative in time to be of value. Once an inflation reaches the runaway stage, it is too late to use ordinary taxation as a check."

PRICE REGULATION?

The article concludes:

"In discussions of the threatened inflation in the daily press much has been said about the regulation of prices and wages. This strikes us as a deliberate attempt to arouse public opinion against the administration. Some commentators have even gone so far as to say that the president is anxious to push through his supreme court proposal in order to obtain dictatorial power which will enable him to regulate prices and wages. Apart from the political absurdity of the charge, there is no basis in history for the belief that a government can control prices and wages in an inflationary period. Many such attempts have been made in the past, and none has been successful when the incidence of inflation was really marked.

"Minimum-wage laws are just and desirable in a period of stable prices, but they are meaningless in an inflation.

"Even more refined methods, such as attempting to fix wages in terms of the cost of living, are bound to prove unenforceable.

"Mr. Roosevelt is undoubtedly aware of these facts, and there is nothing in the statements issued by his cabinet officers to suggest that he intends to use any but the most orthodox methods of checking the threatened runaway rise in prices. Back of the charges against the president lies the undeniable fact that most of the men who control the country's economic power do not want to head off a boom—least of all by an increase in taxation. If 'dictatorship' is to be feared in coming months, it is the dictatorship of these men—the same group that prevented effective action in 1928-1929."

Clockwork habits of scores of courthouse roosting birds yesterday stopped the Butler county courthouse clock. At exactly 45 minutes past midnight the old timepiece stopped. The caretaker blamed the birds, who, he alleged, roosted for several nights on the minute hand. At midnight, when the hands touch together, the birds leave, he said. At the quarter hour they return.

Mrs. J. R. Routledge, wife of the pastor of the Providence Baptist church, North Sewickley township, Beaver county, will sail from New York, April 16 for England and will be in London for the coronation May 12. While abroad she plans to visit relatives in Scotland, Ireland and Wales, returning to the states in late September. Rev. Routledge will accompany her to New York.

Joe Dobie of Grove City has left for New York City where he will join the Ringling Bros-Barnum & Bailey circus for his 18th consecutive season as solo cornetist with the band. Dobie estimates he has traveled 250,000 miles in his 17 seasons under the big top.

Mercer County Potato Growers at a meeting in Mercer courthouse reelected the following officers and directors: W. M. Armstrong, Volant, president; John McDowell, Mercer, vice president; J. N. Robinson, Mercer, secretary-treasurer; Walter Dick, New Wilmington, Orlo McCoy, Grove City, Q. R. Tait, Mercer and C. A. Gamble, Fredonia, directors. Joseph Robinson reported 21,447 bushels had been marketed through the county association. Adjustment and repair of sprayers and diseases of potatoes were other matters discussed.

A resident near Blacktown, Mercer county, has solved the problem of what to do with gayly colored Easter egg shells. He tied them to a tree in his front yard and from a distance the tree looks as if it had blossomed prematurely with several dozen different colored blooms. Wonder what he does with his old razor blades?

Bruno Carrocci, 21, of Lowellville, suffered minor injuries on a one-way traffic construction stretch of Route 18 near North Jackson, O. Employed on the road job he was emptying dirt from his truck when a New York car hit it. Carrocci was treated at a Youngstown hospital.

The addition to the Mahoning County Tuberculosis hospital at Youngstown, which was scheduled to be finished by March 31, should be ready for occupancy by April 30, members of the county building commission decided after conferring with county commissioners. Lack of skilled WPA labor, particularly electricians, has delayed finishing the addition.

A "date is a date"—sitdown or no sitdown. A well dressed young woman approached the Ford assembly plant at Kansas City where strikers were in possession. Her conversation with a worker through a window grew louder and louder until finally she was heard to shout as she kicked her high heels and walked away: "Well, if you won't come out I'll just go to the show with Jim."

GOT SO BILIOUS I LOOKED DIRTY

World's Tonic Most Effective Medicine I Ever Heard Of

"Last summer I got so bilious that the whites of my eyes turned a sickly yellow and my skin always looked dirty. I had difficulty in concentrating my mind on anything, and had no energy whatever. I would belch and belch after my meals, and soon my kidneys were affected. I formerly weighed 148 pounds and I got down where I only weighed 116," said Mrs. Mary Sutton, a well known lady of Ambridge, Pa.

"There was great pain and stiffness in my shoulders and back, and my bowels were so sore that I thought I must have appendicitis. This state of affairs continued for several months, with me growing weaker and weaker every day. I got worse after I had the flu. I had begun to despair of ever getting well, when an old neighbor of mine urged me to try World's Tonic, the new medicine that is creating so much attention in our town. I was unwilling to spend any more money on medicine, but she insisted so strongly that I finally bought it. Her pushing me into this purchase I owe the splendid health that I now enjoy. This wonderful tonic took right hold, and after a few days I could feel myself growing stronger. All the pain and sickness disappeared at the end of two weeks, my eyes cleared up, my skin took on a better color, and I began to feel like a new woman. My weight is now 129 pounds.

"Since my recovery I have kept a bottle in the house, and when I feel I have eaten too much or feel a cold coming on I take a dose or two. I want everybody you can reach to know that World's Tonic did a wonderful thing for me, and that it is the best medicine I ever heard of."

"World's Tonic is sold by Eckerd's, Paisley's, and by any other first class drug store. (A-30)

WELCOME TOURISTS

Do you know that every city, town and community in Pennsylvania will be visited by many tourists this year?

The Pennsylvania Scenic and Historic Commission is planning to mail 1,000,000 pieces of literature to individuals and points of distribution throughout the United States this spring. These maps, booklets, and pamphlets will carry the message of Pennsylvania's scenic and historic attractions into the homes of people in every state. It will assure increased tourist business in Pennsylvania, and the commission seeks the cooperation of Pennsylvania citizens in welcoming visitors.

"There are many ways in which the people can extend hospitality to the tourists," said Warren Van Dyke, secretary of highways and chairman of the commission. "By giving tourists accurate information concerning highways and community points of interest the people in each community can play an important part in 'selling' the Keystone State during 1937."

Spring Tornadoes Strike In South

(International News Service)

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 6.—Spring tornadoes that struck over a wide area of the southland from Texas to Georgia today left twelve victims dead and at least 50 injured.

In Alabama, which was hardest hit by the battering storms, four Negroes were killed and at least 39 suffered injuries. Two children were killed when the storm battered to pieces several tourist camp cabins on the Selma-Mobile highway.

runna road sector had been repulsed with heavy losses. The enemy retired in disorder and loyalist troops advanced a mile, the statement said.

Raid "Enemy Army" In Madrid

Meanwhile, loyalist officials here swooped down on an "enemy army" within Madrid's very gates, arresting leaders of what was described as an important rebel organization plotting against the government.

Members of the organization met at a hotel in the center of the city, authorities said. The majority of the group belonged to the administration of Madrid's fish market.

They planned, according to the government, that the hotel and fish market should jointly become centers for armed resistance within the capital at a given moment.

A quantity of firearms, incendiary bombs and explosives was discovered as well as documents which led to arrest of 10 alleged accomplices, most of them employes at the Hotel Valencia here.

Arms and ammunition were found in the fish market, officials said, and further arrests are imminent.

Biggest Battle

According to advices here, the battle in the Basque area, with the Basque capital at stake, is proving one of the biggest in the entire war. General Mola is said to have thrown his best troops into the fray.

Rebel radio broadcasts have claimed capture of Ochandiano by the insurgents. The town, it was claimed, was taken by a rebel encircling movement, and the way is now declared open for the next stage of the attack on Bilbao, capture of Durango.

Two thousand rebels were killed when government troops launched a surprise attack on Eibar on the San Sebastian-Durango road.

Insurgents, seeking to explain this set-back, according to advices here, claimed the loyalist hoisted white flags, evacuated from Eibar, then returned and attacked.

As a result the rebels are said to be determined that not a man shall escape alive from Eibar. They plan to raze the town to the ground as punishment for the asserted loyalist "treachery" if and when it falls into their hands.

Their ability was attested by the fact that they won the national championship at the Cleveland convention of the American Legion last summer.

It is expected to hold similar concerts here in the near future. The band is now getting ready for their appearance at the National Commander's banquet here the last of the month.

Increase Force Of Old Age Assistance Investigators Here

By June 1 or shortly after, every eligible case in Lawrence county requiring mothers' assistance, pensions for the blind, or old age assistance, will be cared for, according to Mrs. Helen B. Booher, executive secretary for the Mothers' Assistance Board in Lawrence county.

In addition to the three permanent and three temporary investigators which have been attached to the local staff, eight more temporary investigators have been added to serve until May 15. All of the eight are from Lawrence county, Mrs. Booher said. By May 15 it is hoped that the waiting lists of the various agencies will be cleaned up and the cases certified to Harrisburg.

Many Cases Waiting

At the present time there are approximately 120 cases on the waiting list of Mothers' Assistance Board, approximately 239 on the old age assistance waiting list and the list for the blind pensions is up to date.

When the list is brought up to date it is thought that the permanent investigators will be able to keep the lists clear of any waiting list of size.

Once the cases are certified to Harrisburg it is then but a matter of time until their monthly checks start coming through. However, the number on the waiting list does not mean that all of them will be given relief. Among the cases there may be some who do not qualify.

To qualify for mothers' assistance it is necessary that the mother have children under sixteen years of age and that she be indigent. In order to qualify for the old age assistance it is necessary for the applicant to have no more than $300 in ready money and no more in real property than a residence in which the applicant resides.

Pastors Oppose Sunday Fishing

Bill Opposed By Local Ministers; Dr. David Perry Guest Speaker Monday

New Castle Ministerial Association on Monday went on record as opposing the passage of the Sunday fishing bill on the grounds that it is "a further liberalization of the Sabbath laws."

This action of the local clergymen followed reading of a communication from the state office of the Federal Council of Churches in which the association was requested to oppose the bill.

Monday's meeting in the First Presbyterian church was particularly interesting because of the address on "Personal Impressions of European Conditions" by Dr. David L. Perry, just home after six months in Vienna.

Dr. Perry opened with a discussion of socialized or state medical care, then the attitude of the people toward Americans, the size of the armies, the amount of poverty and unemployment, and closed with a question and answer period. He was given a vote of appreciation for his discussion.

In the absence of the president, Dr. C. K. McGeorge, the vice president, Dr. N. A. White, was in charge of the meeting. The devotions consisted of reciting in unison the First Psalm, with prayer by Dr. C. N Moore.

Rev. Pearson presented the report of the library committee in which he gave a short outline of the new religious books recently added to the New Castle library. At the close of the meeting Miss Gladys Gray of the city library staff, had an exhibit of books and members were given the privilege of borrowing them.

Favorable comment was made by the ministers as to the fine publicity furnished by The New Castle News in the recent preaching mission week service.

Dr. John J. McIlvaine, chairman of the program committee, in very well chosen words, presented the speaker of the morning, Dr. David L. Perry, M. D.

Butler County Home Inmates Placed In Jail

BUTLER Pa., April 6—Alcohol reported to have been purchased for external use but used internally landed five inmates of the Butler County Home in the county jail where they will be kept for the next 10 days.

The alcohol was brought into the home by one of the quintet, according to James C. Barr, superintendent of the home, and consumed by the inmates. Barr preferred charges of disorderly conduct against them before Alderman Porter Scott.

At a hearing the defendants according to charge filed by the superintendent, William Wise, Louis Biforetti, Anthony Hildebrand, Craign Snow and Claude McCandless were adjudged guilty and given the alternative of paying a fine of $10 and costs or spending the next 10 days in jail.

Their "choice" was the jail sentence.

Congress Battle On Sit-Downs Is Shifted To House

Senate Rejects Byrnes Rider To Guffey Coal Bill On Issue

NEW ACTION MAY COME IN SENATE

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The battle for congressional investigation of sit-down strikes shifted to the house today following the senate's rejection of the Byrnes rider to the Guffey Coal bill assailing this new method of labor.

Rep. Dies (D) of Texas, sought to make the house vote, expected on Thursday, on his resolution for investigation of sit-down strikes a clear-cut issue of approval or disapproval of them.

Still Alive In Senate

The issue was still alive in the senate but it was questionable whether another vote will be taken After the senate rejected the Byrnes' amendment, 48 to 36, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, majority leaders, said a separate resolution on sit-down strikes may be called up tomorrow.

The senate had before it three separate resolutions, by Pittman (D) of Nevada, King (D) of Utah and Davis (R) of Pennsylvania, disapproving sit-down strikes in industry as a matter of public policy. Foes of such strikes planned to press for another test on the Pittman resolution.

A bitter battle was foreseen in the house as opposing forces began lining up votes for and against the proposed sweeping investigation. Dies predicted the house will authorize the inquiry. He declared that a canvass showed that the house will authorize the inquiry is necessary to lay the facts before the public.

Last night the Rev. J. H. Boon, of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, spoke before a large crowd.

Old Tree Landmark On Library Grounds Removed This Week

Due to the fact that the entire center of a beautiful towering shade tree, which formerly stood at the side of the public library building, North Jefferson street, was in a rotted condition, workmen cut the tree down and removed it from the property early this week.

Since the old homestead which stood at the side of the library was torn down, this tree was subjected to the high winds, and endangered the property of the library building. Therefore before any damage could result, the tree was removed.

According to Miss Alice Sterling, librarian, plans have been made to plant a petunia bed around the stump which is all that remains of the old tree.

Deafness Not Always Handicap

McIntyre Cites Famous Cases Of Men Who Have Risen Above Affliction

MAKES MONEY ON CHEAP LUNCHES

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 6—Achievements of the deafened have proved that this affliction is not always a handicap. The most conspicuous example, of course is the late Thomas A. Edison. Indeed, many believe deafness is a spur to successful endeavor. It has chivvied many out of ruts.

O. O. McIntyre

Young Howard Hughes, who has proved the most recent spectacular pilot of the skies, can scarcely hear the roar of his engines. And his illustrious uncle Rupert is a lip reader always in high demand in the literary marts and as a public orator. And is an accomplished musician.

Royal Brown, who turns out such fascinating love idylls is stone deaf. Rex Cole, the refrigerator tycoon, is partially deaf and the late editor Ray Long could not hear in one ear. And Idwal Jones, who writes such beautiful prose is also an ear cupper.

There are many more notable examples. Such as Marconi and Ellen Glasgow, the novelist. Actors like especially to perform for the hard of hearing because they are reputedly not only the most attentive, but the most appreciative of humor and dramatic skill.

Candour in a Bronx bakery: "Pies like mother used to try to make—10 cents."

The three-cent hash houses on the Bowery have no squeamishness among customers. In surroundings repulsive to the average diner, the outcasts—mostly mendicants—eat and with apparent gusto. There is sawdust on the floor and ceilings are often a crawling blanket of cockroaches. Menus are frosted on the windows and a filling meal may be secured for 11 cents. Nobody talks or removes his hat in the hash house. The waiters are smudgy aproned, beetle browed—and one cheep from a customer and out he goes on his ear. A man who owns a chain of these cheap eateries is said to live in splendor uptown. He was pointed out to me lunching at the Ritz one day.

Burton Holmes is among the increasing number of kimona addicts about his apartment. He receives guests so clad as do Roy Howard and numerous others who have spent much time in the Far East. Noel Coward goes in for kimonas when turning out a play and so does Cole Porter when in the throes of tune tinkering. Adolph Menjou has a notable supply. A department store has opened a man's kimona section.

Noel Coward's collapse which closed his box office hit has long been predicted not only by his physicians but his friends. For five years now he has been burning the candle at both ends with his theatrical flic flac. He likes to ride a success only for a quick gallop and then swing to a fresh mount. He is so buzzy with ideas that he sleeps only a few hours nightly. Now he must have absolute rest for a year. He is in his early thirties, a millionaire. And they say is becoming tired of it all.

A page boy in a flossy hotel tells me one of his steady sources of income is from a philandered for whom he poses as an office boy over the phone to the man's wife. Once or twice a week the philanderer and a charmer drop into one of the hotels tea rooms where the page is stationed. When he sees them he immediately goes to the phone to announce to the wife it was her husband's office and he had been detained and would not be home for dinner. New York!

The busman's holiday idea is strikingly illustrated at the Kit Kat Club—currently in favor as an early morning rendevous where, as Variety headlines "Low Songs wow high hats." A large percentage of the customers are the proprietors of other night clubs who flock there after their own places have shuttered. More than any other calling, it is notably true that cafe men are rarely happy outside the restaurant atmosphere.

There's a wince watching owners of those tiny portable eat and drink stands move across town after midnight. Entire investments are not more than $30, including the wagons. Yet from these skeletal beginners many manage to rear families. They are on the job from 7 a. m. until midnight, constantly harrid by prodding policemen. Nothwithstanding any number have become owners of prosperous big stores. One now affluent was once known along Delancey street as Joe, The Hokey-Pokey man.

When the Grantland Rice's daughter Florence was brought to New York from Georgia, as a baby, her nurse took her out for a walk on Riverside Drive one day. When she returned her mother asked what she saw. She replied: "Oh, nothing but a lot of northerners."

Coin Biting Not Always Good Test Of Counterfeits

Wrestler In Harrisburg Bends Coins With Teeth As Joke On Store Keeper

International News Service Staff

HARRISBURG, April 6—The ancient practice of biting silver coins to determine their worth proved a bit impractical here recently.

While idling away a few hours before a scheduled bout, Marshall Blackstone, professional wrestler, entered a shoe-shine establishment.

After the colored boot-black had completed his job on the grappler's brogans, Blackstock announced that he was from the federal department of revenue and was checking reports that counterfeit ten cent pieces were being distributed in the Harrisburg district.

Upon the man's request, the boot-black produced the only three dimes in his cash till for inspection.

Blackstock picked out one of the dimes, examined it carefully, plunked it down several times and said it seemed to be good.

"Of course," he added, "the only way to test silver coins good is to bite on them."

Thereupon, he put the coin between his teeth and with little effort bent the dime almost in two. And while the shine boy's eyes bulger, the wrestler did likewise with the remaining two coins.

"You want to watch that" Blackstock admonished the downcast colored man as he prepared to leave. As he walked to the door, however, he declared himself and reimbursed the negro. When the door closed behind him, three shop loafers scrambled for the bent coins.

Stamp Notes

Great Britain now seems to be commanding the entire attention of the stamp world. With the coming coronation next month, will come a complete new series of stamps, showing pictures of the new royal family. In addition to this the coronation itself will excite a number of stamp issues, and will keep the eyes of the philatelists focused across the sea for many months.

Although only issued about two week, the new army-navy four cent stamp depicting the image of General Robert E. Lee and General Andrew Jackson, has had greater demand than any of the previous stamps in this issue. Many offices about the country are already completely sold out of this item. The reason for the unusually fast sale of the stamp was due to the fact that it was discovered by some alert collectors that only two stars appeared on the collar of General Lee's coat instead of three. This mistake demoted the rank of Lee to that of lieutenant general instead of full general. According to postal officials this error was undoubtedly made when the picture was engraved. An old picture was used to get the best results in an effort to get the best likeness possible, and the ommission of the star was not noticed.

Speculators are confident that the 1840 Great Britain, "penny black" stamp will be a good item in a few years. So good in fact do they think it will be, that they are buying all of them that can be secured on the market for a reasonable figure. The stamp now is priced at $1 per copy. This is the first postage stamp ever issued and huge celebrations are planned in its honor during its centennial year, 1940. The publicity at this time will put the stamp in great demand, thus raising its value.

LOCAL TALENT READY FOR VICTORY PARTY OF WORKERS' GROUP

Local merrymakers will star during the "victory celebration" of the Workers' Alliance members and friends of New Castle Local 65 in King Humbert hall, 110 Division street, on Thursday evening, April 8 at 8 o'clock. Ralph "Guido" Bert will be one of the musicians participating.

The evening will bring a dance, a movie and a floor show, and those in charge report a good ticket sales.

An act of congress is necessary to reinstate a policeman dismissed from the Washington, D. C. police force.

Tired business men and girls in search of health and beauty are being attracted by the thousand to the "keep fit" classes that have become the rage throughout the north of England. Classes are so popular that the halls available in a number of Lancashire towns are not large enough to hold all the women who wish to attend. The movement is fostered by the National Council for Social Service.

"I got the surprise of my life," said Mr. Smith, "when I found that big Nash LaFayette-"400" 2-door sedan delivered for only a few dollars more than the similarly equipped 2-door sedan of one of the 'All Three' small cars."

Actual photograph of Nash LaFayette-"400" 2-Door Sedan with trunk

Look at that car in the picture. It's a great big 117-inch wheelbase car. You get a more powerful six cylinder engine. Larger hydraulic brakes. Strongest type of steel body construction in the industry. Roomy, spacious interiors. Much more "real automobile" . . . yet this big Nash LaFayette-"400" delivers for just a FEW dollars more than the "All Three" small cars.

See Nash for VALUE. Let the X-Ray System open your eyes to the amazing value Nash now offers. See it at all Nash showrooms now.

*FOR AS LITTLE AS $1 OR $2 A MONTH EXTRA YOU CAN GET OUT OF THE "ALL THREE" CLASS. A check-up recently made in ten representative cities shows that the Nash LaFayette-"400" 4-Door Sedan with trunk DELIVERS for just a FEW dollars more than the similarly equipped 4-door sedans of the "All Three" small cars. In many places, the SLIGHT difference in price amounts to just $1 or $2 a month extra on your time payments.

$25 A MONTH! Ask about the convenient terms and low rates available through the Nash C. I. T. Budget plan. In most places, you can pay as little as $25 a month on your time payments. Automatic Cruising Gear now available on all Nash Models at slight extra cost.

MIGHTY U. S. FLEET PREPARES FOR YEAR'S TEST

Maneuvers To Start April 16

Scene Of Tests Will Be In Hawaiian Waters It Is Announced

NEARLY 500 PLANES TO AID WARSHIPS

By RALPH B. JORDAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Cal., April 6.—Intent on reaching maximum efficiency for their big annual fleet problem, officers and men took Uncle Sam's fighting craft to sea Monday for their last tuning up before setting sail April 16 for the maneuvers, slated for Hawaiian waters this year to test defense of the islands.

The fleet will return to its two bases—Los Angeles and San Diego—the latter part of the week and complete taking on stores and oil. It will then lie at anchor until the "zero" hour for the start of the 1937 war games, technically known as fleet problem 18.

Mightiest Armada

The problem, several details of which were released today by Admiral A. J. Hepburn, commander in chief, and his staff, will see the mightiest armada in American history riding the Pacific. Headed by ten battleships, the "backbone" of the fleet, the parade of sea strength will total 139 ships, including cruisers, destroyers, submarines, plane carriers and auxiliaries. An impressive showing of naval aviation will be made by 474 planes.

The first phase of the problem will start with a rendezvous, off the California coast, of destroyers, light cruisers and submarines from San Diego and battleships and heavy cruisers from Los Angeles. The entire fleet will gather, with the exception of the battleship New Mexico, a light cruiser and a destroyer division which will proceed to Alaska and hop off from there late in April.

Early Training

For a week, enroute to Honolulu, the fleet will engage in various unit exercises. Aircraft and the various types of ships will be put through their paces to reveal shortcomings, if any. This phase of the problem is similar to early football practice when the backfield men, ends and linemen are divided into groups and trained in their particular assignments, to be gathered later into a team for their games.

At an unannounced time the fleet will arrive off Oahu, in the Hawaiian group, and launch an attack on the important island, on which Honolulu is located and which includes Pearl Harbor, the navy's very vital base in the Pacific.

The army will attempt to fend off the fleet with some of the most modern defenses in the world, manned by the flower of the army from Uncle Sam's largest army post.

Girl Philatelist Has Unique Method To Collect Stamps

Subject Of Illustration Used For Stamp Classification Makes Unusual Display

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 6—Most stamp collectors classify their collections according to the geographic source of their origin, but not so with Mrs. Sally Ellis, pretty young graduate of the University of Pittsburgh.

The enthusiastic philatelist classifies her stamps according to the subject of illustration and she finds religion the most popular subject with postal authorities the world over.

The young matron said that she scrutinized each stamp with care.

"Hitler's latest, for example, bears the swastika," Mrs. Ellis pointed out, "but before the swastika became the symbol of the Nazi brownshirts it was for centuries the symbol of the sun and the sun god.

"Then stamps from middle Congo show fantastic native idols," she continued, "and Ahura Mazda, the god of light, is on Persian stamps. One Canadian stamp shows an Indian totem pole, and postage stickers from other countries bear images of Confucious, Buddha and Zoroaster."

Besides religious idols and signs such subjects as engineering, art, ethnology, music industry and education are illustrated on the young philatelist's collection.

Shenango Juniors Play On Thursday

"The Attorney For The Defense" To Be Presented At Shenango High

"The Attorney for the Defense," a four-act mystery drama, will be presented by the talented juniors of Shenango township high school Thursday evening, April 8, at 8 o'clock, in the Shenango auditorium.

The story is something like this: Joseph Hampden, powerful, but corrupt district attorney, believing that the kidnaping of his infant daughter 20 years ago was due to Judge Carlyle, wages a bitter and vindictive fight against Carlyle and his son, Jimmy. Just as he seems to have them in his grasp, the tables are turned and, from here on, the plot builds up into a startling climax. You won't guess the end.

All players are filling their parts admirably and by Thursday night will be ready for a finished performance.

The cast:

Jimmy Carlyle—Arthur Pander.
Judge Carlyle—Philip Phelps.
Joseph Hampden—Eugene Francescone.
Jackson Multen—Ernest Bintrim.
Mark Nelson—Earl Martin.
Freddie Warren—Norman Henderson.
Dorothy Hampden—Verda Myers.
Beth Winters—Lena Geiger.
Allie Traynor—Rose Granato.
Elsie—Edna Alexander.

RAIL HEADS ABOARD TRAIN

Giant Airliners Soon To Be Making Atlantic Journeys

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Soon giant airliners will be crossing the Atlantic within 18 and 21 hours with a passenger capacity of 40 and 5,000 pounds of cargo.

In making this announcement, Assistant Secretary of Commerce J. M. Johnson said the Glenn L. Martin Co. of Baltimore, builder of the clipper flying ships that traverse the Pacific, has completed plans for the huge trans-Atlantic ships. Soon a company will be organized to undertake the new air service.

The airplanes planned by the Martin concern will be able to make the eastward crossing in 18 hours, 45 minutes and the westward journey in about 21 hours, making the trip between the United States and Europe in less than a day.

1 Today all good electric refrigerators have ALL of the worthwhile modern features of design—such as: automatic light, cold control, hydrator, new-type shelves and so on.

2 These being common to nearly all makes, what, then, IS the one great point of difference?

3 The answer is the refrigerating unit! And THAT is where Copeland excels. For Copeland's quiet, efficient twin-cylinder mechanism is the product of engineers who have solved the world's most extreme demands of heavy-duty commercial requirements.

See the new 1937 Copeland models today. They cost surprisingly less than their matchless beauty would lead you to suspect—and as little as $5 puts a Copeland in your home.

Plan To Bury Fire Victims

Mass Funeral Will Be Held For Six Children At Port Allegany, Pa.

PARENTS WILL LIKELY RECOVER

(International News Service)

PORT ALLEGANY, Pa., April 6—While arrangements were being made for a mass funeral for their six children who were burned to death, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Sweezy were reported in a "good" condition at the hospital here today but not out of danger.

The parents were burned about the back, face and hands when they attempted to rescue their children early yesterday from their blazing home, razed by fire after an oil stove exploded.

They will be forced to remain at the hospital "at least a couple of weeks" hospital officials said, and will not be able to attend the mass funeral of the six victims Wednesday afternoon at the Methodist church. It was learned the Sweezys were still in danger of pneumonia.

Victims of the fire and explosion were:

Margie, 13; Mary Ellen, 11; Geraldine, nine; Jerry, five; Leola, three and Maxine, eight months.

The house was partially wrecked by the explosion about 3 o'clock yesterday morning with the fire spreading so rapidly the parents were foiled in attempts to aid the trapped children.

The local Lions did not meet at noon today.

New Mellon Building Nearly Ready For Opening Ceremony

May 5-9 Set As Days For Dedication Of New Mellon Institute In Pittsburgh

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 6—When visitors from all corners of the world attend the dedication of Mellon Institute's new buildings May 5-9 they may gape with awe at the broad massive structure clothed in classic beauty and modernly equipped to the last minute detail—but—

Will they appreciate the amount of time, patience and skill that have gone into the building, or the immense amounts of hard-to-obtain material which were required to carry out design and construction?

Take the rows of stately monolithic columns for example. According to Dr. Edward R. Weidlein, director of the institute, these major ingredients were used:

A total of 4,329 tons of structural steel; 932 tons of reinforcing steel; 169 carloads of limestone, 45 carloads of marble; more than 4,000 tons of terra cotta, enough to pave a 40-foot highway for a mile and a half. These are only major ingredients. They do not include the tons of other materials used in lesser quantities.

And the stately Inoic columns—to give the building the simple dignity of ancient Greece—presented a difficult construction problem. The columns were to be single units. Not built up block by block as segments, with horizontal lines where the pieces fitted together destroying the long symmetry of the column's line, but whole finished columns fashioned out of huge pieces of granite.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Doom Agency That Pays Way

Advertising Section Of Federal Housing Administration Makes Money

ABOLISHMENT BEING SOUGHT

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—About the only governmental activities I ever heard of that makes money enough to support itself, plus a fair profit, too, is the advertising section of the federal housing administration.

And they are talking about abolishing that as superfluous.

Members of its personnel express the opinion, however, that its unpopularity is due to other divisions' jealousy—because it pays for its keep and they cannot pay for theirs.

HOW IT'S DONE

The FHA's publicity bureau and its advertising section are separate institutions.

The publicity bureau disseminates free stuff—"handouts", so-called.

It sells "ads", designed to stimulate the business of dealers in builders' supplies—lumbermen, electricians, cement concerns and the like.

They are high-class "ads", prepared by experts in a fashion that it would be difficult to equal from any other source, except very expensively. Newspapers can buy them at less than reasonable rates; then show them to their local building material merchants, and ask, "How would you like to increase your business by running a series of these 'ads'?"—each merchant to pay his newspaper for publishing them, of coures. Or, the merchant can buy his "copy" directly from the government and take it to his local paper to print.

WORKS WELL

The scheme has worked remarkably well.

Advertisers evidently like it; they are surprisingly ready to pay the newspapers for "running' the 'ads'".

And naturally all newspapers like customers for their advertising space.

That the thing has been a success is testified to by the FHA advertising section's balance sheet.

The section costs Uncle Sam approximately $300,000 annually.

Its income is approximately 50 per cent more than that.

Nevertheless, the preponderance of FHA sentiment is to the effect that its advertising section simply is so much dead wood.

It is in a fair way to be extinguished unless there is a howl.

IF MONEY'S TO BE MADE—

It is understandable, for all that, that there should be objection to any governmental money-making activity.

If there is money to be made, there are individuals who want to make it.

Money making is supposed to be no proper function of Uncle Sam.

This argument over the FHA advertising section's success is a petty affair, which has not attracted much attention.

Still, it is of a piece with the outcry against any other public utility.

A PERSONAL EXPERIENCE

I myself once lost a job, due to making a government stunt work too well.

During the war Uncle Samuel created a news service known as the Committee on Public Information (Compub) of which I was manager in Buenos Aires. It was so effective that the South American newspapers used "Compub" stuff, to the practical exclusion of the regular news associations' output.

Whereupon, as soon as the war was ended, and the private associations had time to give the matter a little attention, they got busy in Washington and chloroformed the "Compub."

Not that I believe in a government news agency, either.

Seven extra clerks have been put to work by County Treasurer Joseph H. Hartland, preparing the tax notices to be sent out for county taxes. Because of lack of space in any of the offices in the court house the young ladies are working in the corridor in the space occupied by the election board on election days. The notices will take some time to prepare as there are 37 tax books to be gone through and notices mailed to each tax payer.

If you were asked the question "which ward has the most taxables, that is taxpayers who are liable for taxes, in the City of New Castle" your answer would probably be the Second ward and the answer would be wrong. Accordng to the figures of County Commissioners' Chief Clerk William A. Eakin, the Fourth ward has the most taxpayers in it. The Fourth ward has 6352 tarables in it while the Second ward has but 5803. These figures seem odd when it is remembered that the Second ward has the most votes of any of the wards in the city. To be a voter you must be over 21 and if you are over 21 you are liable for personal taxes. Perhaps the people of the Fourth ward don't vote as heavily as the Second.

Young people desiring to be married are still not altogether clear about the provisions of the three-day marriage license law in Pennsylvania. The law was originally passed to prevent so-called "cocktail weddings" that is weddings which were consummated while the principals were still under the effects of the beverages served at parties. As it is today a young man and his bride to be have to present themselves at the office of the Prothonotary and Clerk of Courts, or an alderman, and make application for a marriage license. Three days later they get the license. For example, if a couple applies on Monday, they cannot get the license until Thursday, but they can be married immediately after getting the license. The price is $2.50 in case you are interested.

Publication of applications for licenses in The News is made at the time the license is applied for, not when it is effective. If a license is applied for in the prothonotary's office by the principals in the morning, the notice is in The News that day as a rule. If the license is applied for in the afternoon it is not in The News until the next day If it is applied for at the office of an alderman or a justice of the peace, it has to be returned to the court house by the alderman or justice of the peace and may not get in for an additional day or so.

Civil court opened on Monday with two damage suits being tried. The first is really two suits in one as C. B. Forney and Alda Stafford are both sueing Fred J. Thomas and Mary G. Thomas his wife. The suit arises out of an incident which alleged to have occurred October 24, 1936. The plaintiffs with others went into a restaurant operated by the defendant and as they stepped inside a fight is said to have developed among some other patrons. In the melee it is alleged that somebody tossed a glass hitting the defendants and injuring them. The second case is that of Mary W. Beck and William J. Beck against the New Castle Dry Goods Company in which damages are asked for injuries sustained by Mrs. Beck when she alleges she slipped on the stairway and was injured.

Collectors employed by the county delinquent tax collector are not permitted to charge a fifty cent commission from persons owing delinquent taxes, according to County Solicitor William McElwee. The decision came at the request of a collector who had not started to work. He said some question had been raised and he wanted to be sure he was legally qualified to charge the fifty cent penalty. Mr. McElwee informed him there was no law for such a charge. The only commission permitted is the five percent allowed the delinquent tax collector. In the past the collectors for the delinquent tax collector have added fifty cents to each account in addition to the five percent allowed the collector. The fifty cents is now passe.

Forty four pieces of property went under the sheriff's hammer on Monday, most of them being Home Owners' Loan properties. There seems to be a general complaint that Uncle Sam is a tough mortgagee. Properties are sold by the government far quicker than most of the private mortgagees have ever done.

Not so many of the boys want beer licenses this year as did last year and the number last year was less than 1935 according to Joseph H. Hartland, county treasurer. This year there are but fifty-four applications for beer licenses. Last year there were 74. The year before there were over 100.

The reason is not altogether that so many places are going out of business but that a lot of them added hard liquor to their beer stocks and now get their licenses through the State Liquor Control Board.

Council Approves Paving Petitions

Number Of Paving Projects Are Given Favorable Consideration Monday

Council convened in the City building Monday and while in committee considered requested street improvements and acted favorably on some of them.

Several petitions which requested grading and paving as WPA projects were reported favorably from committee, as was a petition which asked for the paving by private contract of Logan street between Park and Moody avenues.

The council reported favorably from committee petitions which requested grading and paving of thoroughfares as follows:

Clenmore boulevard between Mercer street and Highland avenue.

Hanna street between Sharp street and Balph avenue.

Cunningham avenue between Allen and Lutton streets.

Boyles avenue between Highland avenue and Blaine street.

Rose avenue between East Washington and Stanton avenue.

Morris street between Sharp street and Balph avenue.

Jefferson street between Miller and Balph avenues.

Lutton street between Mercer and Moravia streets.

A petition which asked that Fairview avenue between Taylor street and Blunston avenue was not acted upon because the avenue has not been ordained between those points, according to council. An ordinance for the Logan street imrovement will be prepared and presented.

When the necessary legislation is prepared the WPA will be asked to approve the other projects reported upon favorably by council today. The distances to be improved have been already checked by city engineering department attaches.

Tons Of Stone Being Hauled For Airport Runways

New Airport Quarry Producing Large Quantities Of Stone For New Airport

Although work has not yet been resumed on the new airport on the New Bedford road, many tons of stone, mined at the airport quarry, near Poland, O., are being dumped along the line of the new runways. When the work commences in a few days the workmen will place the stone in the field, making hard-surfaced runways for the airplanes.

At the present time the earth is much too soft to permit any heavy hauling on the site. The trucks would sink in deep and would be unable to work efficiently. The runway to which the stone is being hauled at the present time is the one nearest the old port, and the plot is now laid out for the circle which will provide room for the planes to turn and taxi down the field.

Keystones Win League Title At "Y" Floor 35-24

Hand Defeat To Gersons Monday Night For House-Indus League Crown

Rieber, Kearns And Gennock Lead Keystones To Victory, Kawa Best For Losers

Keystone A. C. basketball team tacked another championship on the already well filled mast last night at the Y. M. C. A. floor by administering a defeat 35 to 24 to the Gerson quintet for the House-Indus League title. A capacity crowd witnessed the final game of the series. Lester "Bus" Reiber, "Sham" Kearns and Nickie Gennock paced the Keys in their victory.

Coach Andy "Coots" Venditto has booted another winner across the finish line ahead of the field. Last year he brought the St. Joseph's team home as Church League champs. Two championships in two years for the popular young coach.

An Uphill Fight

The Keystone A. C. waged an uphill fight that was glorious to behold. Behind at one point in the first period 11 to 1, the boys took stock and after carefully looking the situation over decided to go to work. The end of the first period it was 12 to 10 with the Jewelers holding to a slight lead. It was different ball game now.

In the second period the Keys really "went to town" scoring 11 points and holding the opposition to three points to lead at the half 21 to 15. In the first half Rieber had five of the points, Gennock six, and Kearns five, the Keys "Big Three" getting 16 of the 21 points. Russ Kawa and Laitenen paced the Gersons on the first half each getting three fild goals.

Keys Get Cautious

Play was much more cautious in the third period. Again the Keys looked the part of real champions as they scored eight points and held the Gersons to two points. The end of the third stanza found the South Jefferson street boys in the van 29 to 17. In the fourth and final period the Keystones played a steady brand of basketball and although they were outscored seven to six, it was not enough to sweep away the commanding lead that the Venditto coached machine had acquired in the first three periods. Rieber and Laitenen were forced out of the game on four personal fouls.

The game despite the lopsided score was one of the best of the year on the "Y" court, and provided highly interesting to the packed audience. In foul tossing the Keys made 9 out of 15, while the Gersons did first rate also with 8 out of 16.

The boys were really making those fouls count last night.

The Keys are being widely acclaimed on all sides today and rightly so. The boys to a man played a snappy brand of ball and it was cooperation not individual glory that carried the Keys to the heights of championship caliber.

Kearns Goes Wild

It was a bitter disappointment to Coach Earl Bauman after seeing his boys with a 11 to 1 lead in the first period, blowing the lead and then losing control of the situation. It was just a case of the Keys "turning on the heat" when it looked cold and they never let up until the final whistle. Out of the blaze of glory heaped on the Keys we must say that "Sham" Kerans, the fast aging floor star played a brilliant game. Together with Rieber and Gennock, this young man made the keys look awfully good.

Pedro Montanez Defeats Ambers

Challenger Hands Lacing To Champion In "Practice" Bout In New York

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, April 6—In keeping with the finer traditions of the Minsky epoch, we even had a strip-tease of the world's lightweight championship at Madison Square Garden last night, with results just as negative as usual. At the end, Pedro Montanez, the Porto Rican, was given the unanimous decision over our champion, Lou Ambers, the Herkimer horse-fly, but it didn't count because, after all, this was only a sneak-preview with nobody giving his right weight or anything.

I'm calling the guy the horse-fly because his buzz is worse than his bite, but he did come off quite a slathering in the first round where he started flat on his feet and almost finished flat on his face. After that, he did all right and so, I might say, did the final count on the gate.

Just Practice

It ran all the way up to $54,257.71, with more than 17,000 paid admissions, which is pretty good for a "practice" showing. They'll be back next summer and do $150,000.

Many of the witnesses seemed quite upset by the decision, but the press row and two of the officials called it 6 to 4 for Montanez. The writer's score was 5, 3 and two even but, either way, it was satisfactory enough to a guy who probably didn't greatly care whether he won this one or not. In the tenth and final round, as a matter of fact, he began trying out some fresh routine and was going over Montanez like an estimate.

Keystone Will Go To Braddock For Third Game

The Keystone A. C. basketball team will go to Braddock, Pa., on Wednesday night for the third and deciding game of the series between the House-Indus league champs and the championship Braddock Holy Nams. Each team has won a game.

The Keys will be under the direction of Coach Venditto and Father Joseph Doerr of St. Joseph's church. The Braddock team is coached by Father Stifter formerly of the New Castle hospital. The Keys will have such well known stars as Riebre, Kearns, Gennock, Bullano and Teplica in the lineup and will be opposed by the famous five Leech brothers and Curron, All W. P. I. A. L. forward at Braddock this year.

The locals will meet at the club at 6 o'clock to make the trip to the Pittsburgh suburban city.

Just as the Great Western express was speeding up in the yards of Kalgoorlie station in Australia, a woman passenger suddenly pulled the cord which signalled the engineer to stop. Jumping from the car she frantically ran back to the waiting room, and recovered her baby. She had placed it on a bench, and when the train arrived she absent-mindedly boarded it without the child.

WHAT BIG LEAGUE TEAMS ARE DOING

(International News Service)

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., April 6.—Aided by good pitching, timely hitting and clever fielding, the Phillies today had won their third consecutive grapefruit league victory from big league opposition by trampling the hustling Cincinnati Reds, 6 to 3. Previous victims of Jimmy Wilson's fast-moving ball club were the Boston Bees and the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Austin, Tex., April 6.—The Philadelphia Athletics moved out of Austin today to continue their barnstorming trip northward after overwhelming the University of Texas longhorns, southwest conference baseball champions, 11 to 3. Chubby Dean, A's first baseman, accounted for most of the big league nine's runs. He slammed out two homers and two singles in four trips to the plate.

Prescott, Ariz., April 6.—The Pittsburgh Pirates were due here today following a farewell to California's balmy atmosphere and the opening of a barnstorming trek. With Pitcher Russel Bauers in the starring role, the Pirates triumphed over the San Bernardino, Cal., Argonauts yesterday, 7-3. He allowed only three singles to blank the enemy for five rounds.

Tyler, Tex., April 6.—Reeling from three straight defeats by Cleveland as the two teams resumed hostilities today, the New York Giants found consolation in the current batting spree of outfielder George Davis. Although the Giants lost to the Indians 6 to 5 yesterday, Davis connected for four hits, including his second homer in two days.

Orlando, Fla., April 6.—A tremendous double by Pitcher Ed Linke broke a ninth-inning tie and a four-game losing streak when the Washington Senators defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 4 to 3. It marked the fourth beating the St. Louis mob has absorbed at the hands of the senators.

Today the senators meet the Detroit Tigers with their newly acquired Al Simmons playing against his former teammates.

Galveston, Tex., April 6.—The terrific cannonading of the New York Yankees on the Lone Star prairies today had netted 27 runs and 35 hits, including seven homers in two days. Yesterday the world's champions massacred Galveston, 13 to 2.

Clearwater, Fla., April 6.—"The wearing of the green" will be the theme song of Brooklyn's daffy Dodgers this season. Club officials announced the players' uniforms will be trimmed with Kelly green—shirts, trousers, caps, stockings and windbreakers.

Lakeland, Fla., April 6.—Roxie Lawson looked like the answer to Manager Mickey Cochrane's prayer for a fourth starting pitcher today after he shut-out the Boston Bees for seven innings as the Detroit Tigers won 3-0. It was his third first class pitching job of the spring season.

Church Golfers Meet Thursday

President W. I. Clark of the New Castle Church Golf League, today announced a meeting of the league managers and officials for the Elliott-Waddington store at 7:30 o'clock on Thursday night to discuss the coming golf season. All churches planning to enter the league this year should have their representatives at the meeting.

The screwier the argument in this crisis, the more likely it is to be sincere. Nobody would be that silly if he knew better.

Manager Bill Terry Of Giants Will Play In Several Games This Year

FRANK ZAMORIS FIGHT SENSATION

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 6.—Along Bash Boul' today we find...Horace Stoneham . . . young millionaire owner of the Giants...smilingly confiding (1) why he is going to give Bill Terry a new straight manager's contract...and (2) why Terry is not interested in trying to land First Baseman Dolph Camelli of the Phillies...

"You see," explained Horance, "Bill now has a player-manager contract...and if he went on the voluntary retired list he wouldn't be eligible to play again until after 60 days...but under a straight manager's contract he'll be able to step in and play any time..."

Cold On Camilli

Horace intimated Terry had grown cold on Camilli..."I believe Bill thinks Camilli is just a Philadelphia ball player," said Horace rather snootily..."I had Bill on the long distance phone yesterday and he never said a word about Camilli..."

The foregoing is hint enough that Terry isn't yet sold on either Jack McCarthy or Sam Leslie...and may yet be back on his old ba...

Les Patrick picks his Rangers to beat the Red Wings tonight...in the first game of the Stanley Cup finals ...Line-up two blocks long yesterday assured sell-out 24 hours before game...Les says Wings are at full strength except for Larry Aurie...which would be like saying Yankees are all set except for Lou Gehrig...If Lou were out of the line-up...

Busies fighter in the country this year will be John Henry Lewis... light heavyweight king...who's had six fights in as many weeks...and has three more coming up this month...

His manager, Gus Greenlee, says John Henry will have to quit loafing from now on..."Last year he made only $50,000 for himself," says Gus, "because he had only 26 fights ...but this year I'm going to keep him busy...

New Sensation

Newest ring sensation is Frank Zamoris, Orange, N. J., Lithuanian ...who will have a Metropolitan unveiling soon...He's built like a miniature Tom Sharkey...five feet five and 175 pounds.

Fred Apostoli is now the most feared middleweight around...Even Champion Freddy Steele turned down $25,000 to meet him...And Lou Brouillard, Ken Overlin, Babe Risko, Frank Battaglia, Ted Yarosz and Oscar Rankin...always have business elsewhere when Fred's name is mentioned...Selah...

The Penn Power boys were captained by Eddie Van Dusen and Bill Robinson. The margin of victory was 234 pins in a total of five games rolled.

High man for the match was George Sargeant who blasted the maples for two games of over 200, one being 214 and the other 204.

The game totals of the match: Financiers—740, 823, 731, 822, 708—3824. Penn Powers—739, 891, 859, 826, 743—4058.

Lawrence League Managers To Meet

Managers of teams in the Lawrence county baseball loop will meet tonight at the Sport Goods store, where plans for the coming season will be discussed. It is believed that all of the teams which composed the loop last season will be again in line.

Pennsylvania Club Re-Elects Same Officers

The Pennsylvania club members met last night for their annual session and re-elected Thomas H. Hitchcock as president, W. A. Shipler as vice-president, and Karl Rohrer as secretary and treasurer for the year of 1937.

The officers served the past year in fine style and their re-election was on a unanimous basis. The club one of the oldest of its kind in existence, is planning on another fine time in the Canadian Woods this year around the Georgian Bay district. Plenty of fish tales will be unraveled when the men return home this summer.

Paul Waner Is Ready To Talk

Hard Hitting Outfielder Ready To Discuss Terms With Pittsburgh Pirates

(International News Service)

SARASOTA, Fla., April 6.—After holding out for weeks, Paul Waner, Pittsburgh Pirates outfielder and top batter in the league, weakened today and announced he was ready to talk things over again.

Waner revealed he planned to meet the Pirate team when it arrived at Dallas, Tex., Sunday.

"I'll talk it over and see if they want me to play ball or if I stay here and play golf and fish this summer," he said.

Since only a small amount separates the Pirates' offer and Waner's counter-demand, it was believed the contract difficulty would be ironed out and Waner in uniform within a short time. He has kept in condition by working out with friends in a local ball park.

At San Bernardino, Cal., President Bill Benswanger said he knew nothing of Waner's plans and had made no arrangements for a conference in the Texas town.

Braddock Opens Training Camp

Champion Reaches Stone Lake, Wisconsin And Starts Rigid Training Period

(International News Service)

STONE LAKE, Wis., April 6.—Heavyweight Champion Jim Braddock today began training here for his championship bout with Joe Louis in Chicago June 22.

Braddock's 400 mile auto trip from Chicago was a tour of triumph, with large crowds waiting to greet him at Madison, Eau Claire, Rice Lake, and other Wisconsin cities.

The champion and his party arrived at Karl Ogren's expansive lodge on the pine-studded shores of Lake Sissabagama shortly after midnight, and he immediately piled into bed after leaving orders to have a sharp ax left at the doorstep for him.

Wood-chopping and road work were on Braddock's program for today. He plans to rough it for five weeks.

Returns From Tour

Chicago, April 6.—Joe Louis was scheduled to return today from his cross country exhibition tour, for a short stay before leaving for West Baden, Ind., to begin preliminary training for his title fight with Champion Jim Braddock here June 22.

Joe Gould, Braddock's manager, left yesterday for New York after seeing the champion off for his Wisconsin training camp. Gould said he would appear in court in Newark, N. J., Monday to defend his claim that Madison Square Garden never intended to promote a Braddock-Schmeling bout because it appeared it would be promoted at a loss."

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page who won the North and South title at Pinehurst gained a four stroke margin over her nearest competitors in yesterday's 18-hole round of the annual 63-hole Mid-South medal play tournament for women at Southern Pines, N. C. The second 18 holes will be played today. She clipped five strokes off women's par with a 39-39-78. In second place were Virginia Guilfoil, Syracuse collegian, who gave Mrs. Page a battle in the North and South final and Mrs. Karl Scheidt, of Philadelphia, each of whom had 41-41-82. Both bettered par of 43-40-83.

E. R. Bradley likes Brooklyn in the Derby according to report from the east, which say he has bet $10,000 to $11,000 with Jerome Louchheim, of Philadelphia that Brooklyn will beat the winter book favorite, Pompoon, owned by Louchheim.

George T. Dunlap, Jr., shot a 70 in the qualifying round of the North and South amateur golf tournament yesterday at Pinehurst, N. C. He had a four stroke lead over his nearest competitor, Charles Whitehead, of Plainfield, N. J. There are 171 in the field.

Homer Gray and Ray Gray, both of New Castle and Louis Severio, of Meadville, who has fought here will be on the fistic card at Youngstown tonight. Gray will oppose Tiger Hariston and Art Booth will fight Ray Gray. Johnny Sheppard of Cleveland will battle Severio. Jack Trammel and Jack Fox meet in the 12-round final.

If you think America has no dictator, let's see you succeed as a fighter if the big shots in New York don't like you.

TALES IN TIDBITS

By BILL BRAUCHER

Central Press Sports Editor

NEW ORLEANS, April 6.—SOME IMPRESSIONS OF A TRAINING CAMP ROVER: It takes all kinds of baseball managers to make a spring . . . reporters hunting for interviews and stories people will read can't help liking guys like Bill McKechnie and Frankie Frisch . . . they talk to you straight from the shoulder, without fear of being "misquoted" . . and when you're through talking with them you feel that you've really got something.

Naturally a reporter will have favorites among the pilots he calls on from time to time . . he'll feel more at home with some managers than with others . . Joe McCarthy makes you comfortable . . he's businesslike about his baseball club . . . averages means as much to him as specifications to an Irish paving contractor . . . he discusses the team as though you were supposed to know as much about it as he does . . feels there isn't much to say about a championship club starting another season.

Charley Dressen of the Reds is a hustling little salesman in appearance . . he'll step out of his way to accommodate a reporter . . he got out of bed one night at Tampa to give a harassed scribe a story on the verbal battle he had with Squire Burleigh Grimes, and was gracious about it, too . . something about him reminds you of Miller Huggins . . . but he can't be as cross as Hug was on occasion.

Grimes Is Pitching

Grimes is a bit on the actor side, running to heavy parts . . if you don't know him, and he doesn't know you, he puts you on the defensive right off the bat . . you're a hitter and he's pitching . . furthermore, he's a better pitcher than you are a hitter . . if you are a friend of the Brooklyn ball club, all right . . but if you happen to be one of the club's severest critics, you'll have to make out as well as you can, without any help from the Squire . . he is definite in his opinions . . and a little funny sometimes without being aware of it.

Frisch is absolutely without pretense . . he knows your business, and feels that you know his . . you want to ask him something about Paul Dean? . . all right, come up to the room . . Frisch is in bed, but go ahead, what do you want to know? . . he is a critical manager with a fine knowledge of ballplayers and their limitations, and sound judgment of their abilities . . smart handler of the talent at his command . . likes to have something to moan about, but his squawking never hurts . . when the Gas House Gang wins a ball game he beams.

Terry Fools 'Em

Bill Terry has fooled many baseball writers . . sure, he's brusque . . . but, okay, what do you care? . . . no, he hasn't got time to talk about the team now, he has to hurry and dress and catch a bus. . . see you tomorrow . . but you can get what you want if you meet Bill his way . . he feels that he doesn't owe newspaper men anything . . . and you have to be patient with the man, and follow him around a while before he'll break down and tell you something . . you can't call him up and tell him to drop into the office that you want to see him about something;

Bill McKechnie is on your side . . . you feel that you're talking to a friend . . Steve O'Neill is the same sort . . you don't have to fish around for words when you ask him questions, and he doesn't fish for the answers. . . Mickey Cochrane is gentlemanly, easy to talk with, but he waits you out . . he doesn't bubble up with chatter.

Jimmy Wilson is a good fellow . . . meets you on even terms . . . doesn't try to fool you about the Phils, or anything else . . easy to see . . Connie Mack is easy to see, too, and easy to talk to, but he'll hand you a little baseball blarney once in a while . . he's a teacher . . . and he has been teaching so long that you have to take a little schooling along with the news . he is particularly interesting on the subject of ball players' salaries . . . they're outlandish, you know . . and he told such and such an outfielder the other day he would sell him if it weren't for a serious flaw in his play.

Joe Waits You Out

Joe Cronin is friendly with newspapermen in a quiet way . . sticks pretty close to facts . . always willing to talk about the ball club . . . more of a man of action than words, however . . and, like Cochrane, he'll wait you out, not volunteering an awful lot . . rarely bursting into oratory.

Bucky Harris is one of the smartest you'll see, whether he's on the ball field or in the drawing room . . . critical, too . . has a lot of dry wit . . loves a fight . . shrewd as a fox . . fine bridge player . . good psychologist . . spoofs a little . . . just gently.

Charley Grimm still is boyish, accepting newspapermen as friends . . . he's companionable, affable, entertaining . . knows some stories. . . . Pie Traynor is a trifle mousey . . . believes in his heart the Pirates can win every year . . . he's well liked by players and reporters.

Hornsby? Well, he's Hornsby! Keen, often crabby, not inclined to robust laughter . . but with a great baseball intelligence . . . he'll talk baseball by the hour, the day, the month . . . strictly earnest . . . . always aggressive, driving . . hard ball player, breathing the spirit of the game.

HE COULD TELL

A traveling salesman visited a large factory and told the boss he could pick out all the married men among the employes. He stationed himself at the door, and as the men came from dinner he pointed to those he thought were married. In almost every case he was right.

"How do you do it?" asked the amazed boss.

"Oh, it's quite simple," replied the traveling man; "quite simple. The married men all wipe their feet on the mat. The single men do not."

DIDN'T FOOL DAD

The one-ring circus was visiting a town in the hills. The folks there recognized all the instruments of the band except the slide trombone.

One old settler watched the player for quite some time, then, turning to his son, said:

"Don't let on that you're watching him. There's a trick to it; he ain't really swallerin' it."

Public Hearing For Sunday Fishing Bill

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 6—Pennsylvania's controversial sportsmen's measure, the Sunday fishing bill, was to be given public hearing this afternoon by the senate game and fisheries committee.

Advocates and opponents of the bill, introduced in the house by Rep. Mahlon Larue, D., Berks, and subsequently passed there, lined up to present their arguments on the measure.

Briefly, the bill is designed to open the "great outdoors" to Keystone state fishermen whose occupations prevent them from using rod and reel on any day but Sunday. It will permit Sunday fishing, heretofore banned, throughout the commonwealth.

The privilege is conditioned upon the fisherman obtaining consent from the owner or leasee of land abutting on the stream or body of water concerned. Such consent, however, is not required if the water is on state or federal owned land, except where fishing is done from privately-owned land abutting on the stream.

Violation of any provision of the act, amending the act of May 2, 1925 would be punishable by a $25 fine. The bill would become effective immediately upon enactment.

The bill provides that not more than two rods and two lines and one hand line, with not more than three hooks on either line, may be used in the Sunday angling.

Gedeon Free in $1,000 Bail

Joseph Gedeon, father of Veronica Gedeon, artist's model, who with her mother and a roomer were murdered in their New York City flat, is shown after he had been released in bonds of $1,000 for violation of the Sullivan law when a gun was found in his shop. Two days of intensive questioning failed to shake Gedeon's story of his actions on the day of the murders.

Stock Market Tone Easier

Trading At Snail's Pace Today, Losses Limited To Point In Most Cases

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, April 6.—A generally easier tone prevailed in the stock market today, as trading again was at a snail's pace from the opening gong.

Losses were limited to a point in the majority of stocks, with the financial district still under the adverse influence of labor developments. Hope continued for an early settlement of the Chrysler strike.

Steels, motors, coppers and rails were the principal selling targets. Utilities, oils and aviations bucked the trend, many in these groups moving above their previous closing levels.

Bethlehem and U. S. Steel each lost a point in the steel department, selling being partially induced by the slight tapering off in operations estimated by the American Iron & Steel Institute yesterday. Fractional declines were shown by Republic and Otis.

Motors recovered a good part of their initial declines later in the forenoon. Chrysler was typical of the group, coming within a small fraction of last night's final price after opening a point lower. General Motors showed little change.

American Smelting in the copper section and Southern Pacific in the rails were leaders on the downside for their departments, each slipping close to a point before meeting support. Lesser losses were sustained by Anaconda and Kennecott in the former, and New York Central and Pennsylvania in the carriers.

Included among the issues to get behind plus signs were Douglas Aircraft, Consolidated Edison, Goodyear and Westinghouse, the last rising a point. Mail orders, including Sears Roebuck and Montgomery Ward, were moderately improved.

Bonds turned downward, as governments again were under pressure. Grains moved irregularly higher, but cotton was inclined to lower levels.

According to some political observers, the recent clash of Puerto Rican police with a political parade in the city of Ponce, may result in the resignations of General Blanton Winship, governor of the island, and Dr Ernest H. Gruening, director of the division of territories and insular possessions in the U. S. department of the interior. One observer charges that the two officials, although liberals, have caused the failure of the New Deal in Puerto Rico.

Budget Bureau Will Propose Sharp Increase In Flood Control Funds

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The budget bureau soon will propose a sharp increase in flood control funds over the January budget estimates, members of congress were informed Monday.

The proposal is expected to call for an appropriation of at least $50,000,000 to carry out the $310,000,000 flood control act passed last year instead of the $30,000,000 recommended in January.

The bureau is also expected to recommend an increase in the $22,500,000 suggested in January to carry on the huge flood control program on the lower Mississippi river.

Will Speed Work

A decision to speed flood control works already authorized by congress to minimize the danger of disastrous floods was said to be the reason for the proposed increase in immediate appropriations.

In spite of the administration's willingness to boost its original flood control budget figures, a strong congressional bloc was organizing to demand that at least $100,000,000 be provided in the present session of congress.

"It is my hope that we can double the appropriations recommended in January, making a total of $105,000,000," said Rep. Whittington (D) of Mississippi, chairman of the house flood control committee.

Rep. Snyder (D) of Pennsylvania, chairman of the appropriations sub-committee on the war department supply bill in which flood control funds will be carried, favored an appropriation of $60,000,000 to carry out the general flood control bill enacted in the last session.

Defends Administration

The administration was defended by Whittington against charges of delay in providing funds to carry out the work authorized in the Omnibus flood control bill, chiefly for New England, New York and Pennsylvania.

"The bill was enacted last summer shortly before congress closed and there was not time to make an appropriation," explained Whittington. "But President Roosevelt made available funds for surveys and other preliminary work by the army engineers. Thus there has been no delay."

Meantime, legislation for extensive flood control works in the Ohio valley was being held up pending receipt of revised plans from the corps of army engineers.

The revised plans, which are expected to provide for elaborate means of avoiding a repetition of the disastrous Ohio river floods, are expected to be submitted to congress in the near future.

Have Important Roles In School Play On Friday

Betty Jane Hulme Bernard Tavolieri

Betty Jane Hulme and Bernard Tavolieri play opposite one another in the coming high school play, "A Pair of Sixes". They are respectively stenographer and bookkeeper to the quarrelsome business partners whose activities keep their office employees in a state of anything but monotony.

To do and then undo work cheerfully and remain patient and courteous in the face of contradictory orders can be achieved outwardly and is, by these two clerks, but the stage business is greatly enriched by the covert sigalling and grimaces by which they relieve their overwrought feelings. Betty Jane and Bernard are good comedy characters.

FHA Director To Address Bankers

Oakley W. Heselbarth Of Pittsburgh, Will Address Meeting In Chamber Of Commerce

Opportunity for the safe investment of funds offered banks, building and loan associations and other financial institutions by the mutual mortgage system of the Federal Housing Administration, and at the same time affording prospective home owners a chance to purchase property on convenient terms, over a long period of time, will be explained at a meeting of bankers and representatives of other leading financial agencies Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 p. m., April 7, at a bank forum to be held at the Chamber of Commerce Rooms, Greer Building, New Castle.

The meeting, called at the request of financial institutions because of the growing interest which people in New Castle and Ellwood City are showing in the National Housing Act, will be addressed by Oakley W. Heselbarth, Director, Western Pennsylvania District, Federal Housing Administration, with offices in Pittsburgh.

Among other things, Director Heselbarth will point out what the National Housing Act is doing for banks and other financial institutions cooperating with the Federal Housing Administration in stimulating loans on real estate.

At one time, in Paris, the city that cares the most about what it eats, all sorts of spices were used in food, among them a number of perfumes. Iris, rose water and marjoram were often mixed together and every cook was supposed to have musk and amber at his disposal.
